Analysis

1. What is the male /female ratio of the judges across the states?

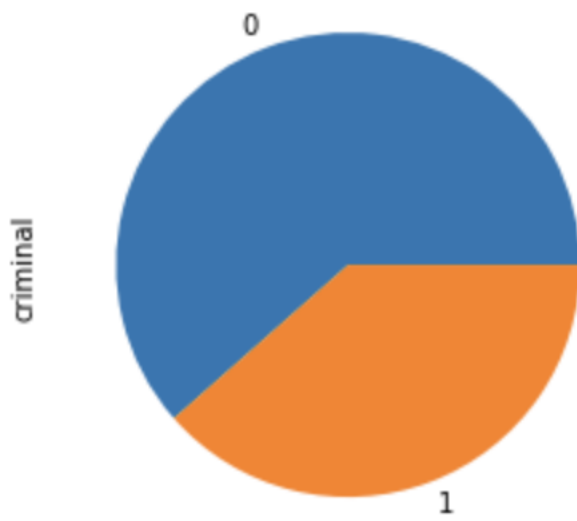

The first analysis brings to the table the male-female ratio of judges across states. From this we get the insight that the state of Bihar has the highest male-female judge ratio indicating the under-representation of women in the state.

The states of Mizoram and Meghalaya have the least male-female judge ratio indicating the almost equal representation of women in the court of law.

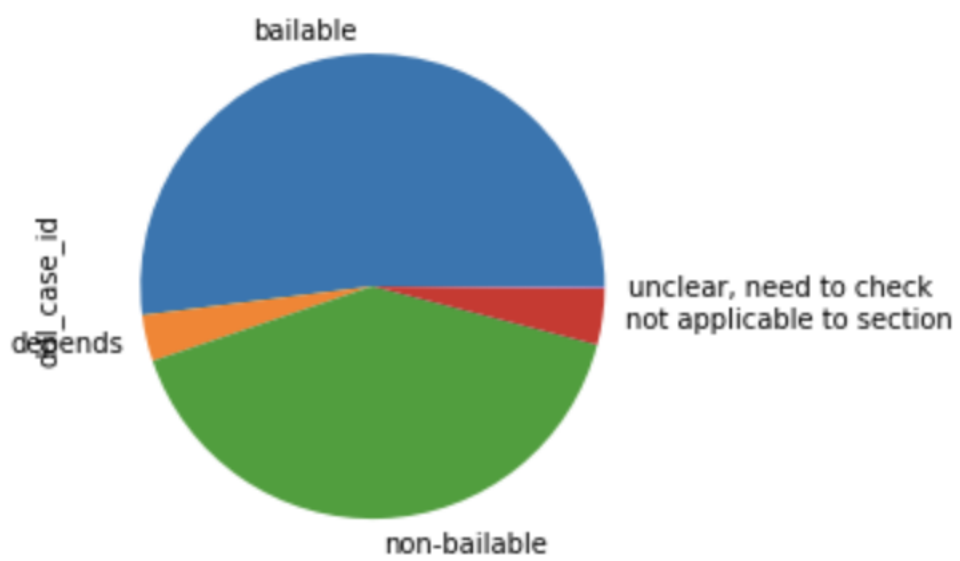

2. What is the ratio of criminal to non-criminal cases in the court?

The graph indicates that most of the cases brought to the court are have a high chance of being a criminal case.

3.How likely there's a chance that your case is bailable?

The graph represents the possible bail statements and the possibility on a pie chart.
